FLIGHT '87

BRENT J. HALL

Brent,

This year has been great. I really loved all of our long talks on the phone till 2:00am. About anything and everything. I hope your lips are sealed because mine are. Remember all the parties like at Wendy's lake house! If I'm rambling on, it's because I don't know what to say. You've been a really great friend and I hope you'll come party with me in Austin, well only be 30 minutes away! And about what's written in your text I promise I did not write it! (M.D.) But I did put in the pink socks! Well, I'm really going to miss you this summer. I'll give you my new phone # & you can call me sometime! Just don't forget about me!

Love

Sherry

P.S. maybe I'll come visit you this summer from Austin.

Dedication

Throughout our school lives we have many teachers who greatly influence us. They touch us in many ways, helping us to grow and learn. Each one has a unique teaching style that makes that teacher special and different from the others. It is not necessarily the more recent teachers that we remember most, but also those who patiently worked with us as we learned to read and write. Therefore with great affection, we the staff of Flight '87, have chosen two such teachers, Ms. Anne Robinson and Mrs. Jean Webb. For their unselfish devotion, their sense of humor and their concern for their students as individuals, we proudly dedicate this book to them. Ms. Robinson and Mrs. Webb, we want you to know that you are special teachers to us as well as special friends.

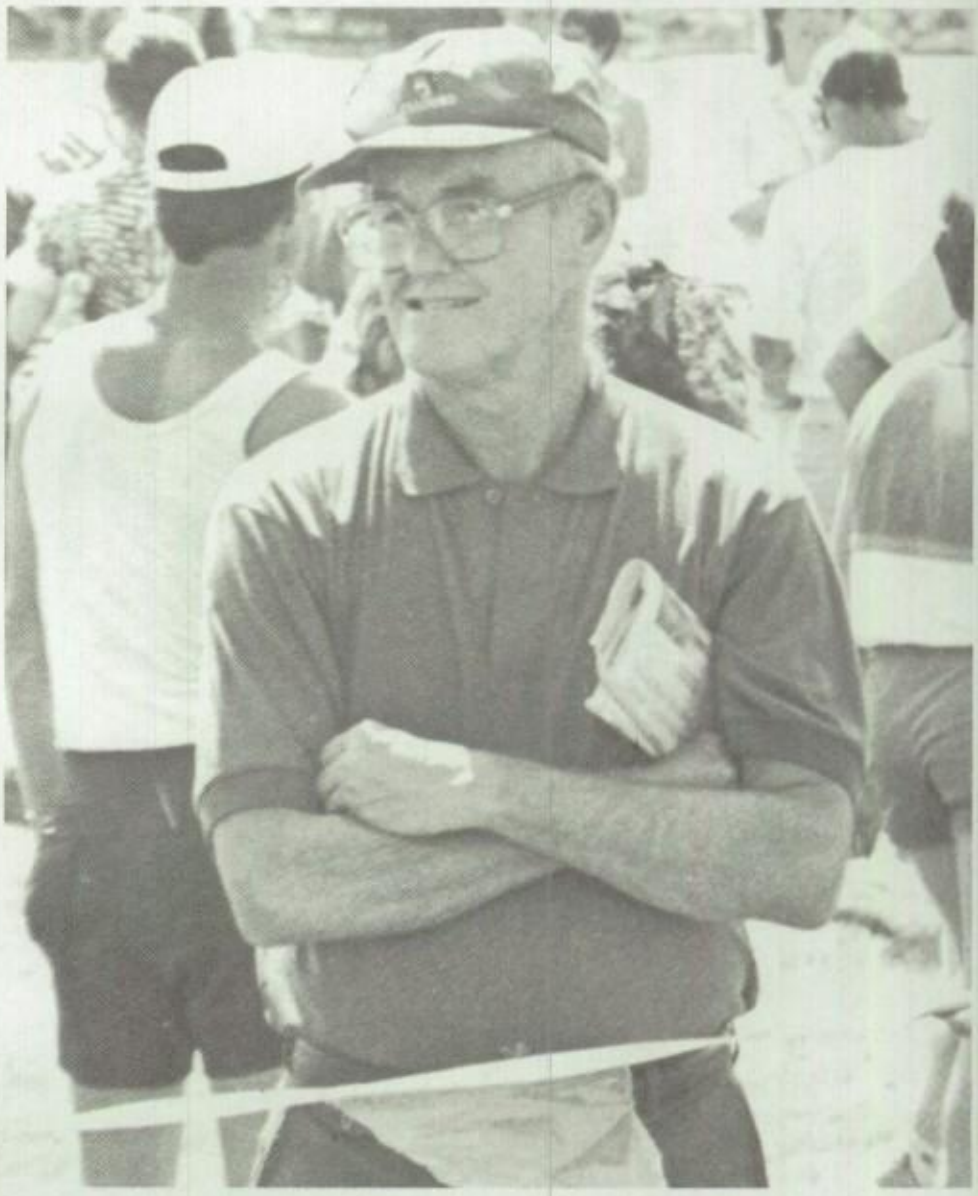
IN RECOGNITION



Since Mr. Sanford arrived in 1976, he has contributed to all aspects of the school. His continuous involvement in the classroom by teaching fourth grade math and lecturing in Middle School history classes helped him to know the students on a personal level. In addition, he has worked to add to campus facilities. He spearheaded additions to the Lower and Middle Schools, which provided needed room for their expanding programs. Spectators and athletes alike enjoy the new gym, track and stadium lights which he supported. One of his priorities, the performing arts program, was also expanded through a new theater, art building and ballet room. He has supported the school's involvement in the community through an Outreach Volunteer Program and the Urban Ministries can drive held at Christmas. Moreover, Mr. Sanford supported the academic life of the school by recruiting top level faculty and increasing faculty benefits. Thank you, Mr. Sanford, for the gift of your time, dedication to excellence and expertise. We will miss you!

Howdy Folks!

The first week of school, traditionally called Howdy Week is highlighted by a variety of activities. Every day has a different theme and the students dress accordingly: Beach Day, Pajama Day, and Red and Blue Day. The Senior girls won the powder-puff football game against the Junior girls. Howdy Week provides a wonderful opportunity for the new students to make friends. Also, this year for the first time, Freshmen were given Big Brothers and Big Sisters in the Senior class. The Howdy Dance on Saturday night brought the week's activities to a close.

Sandy Liang and Wesley Meekins take time out for a quick pic.

Lisa Tilley . . . most valuable player?

"How do you like the decor?" asked the Senior Girls.

Sophomores show their spirit during Howdy Week Pep Rally.

Allison Jeffers and Blair Hyde wonder who will ask them to dance.

Nothing beats a great pair of legs.

The Senior Girls: A sight for sore eyes.

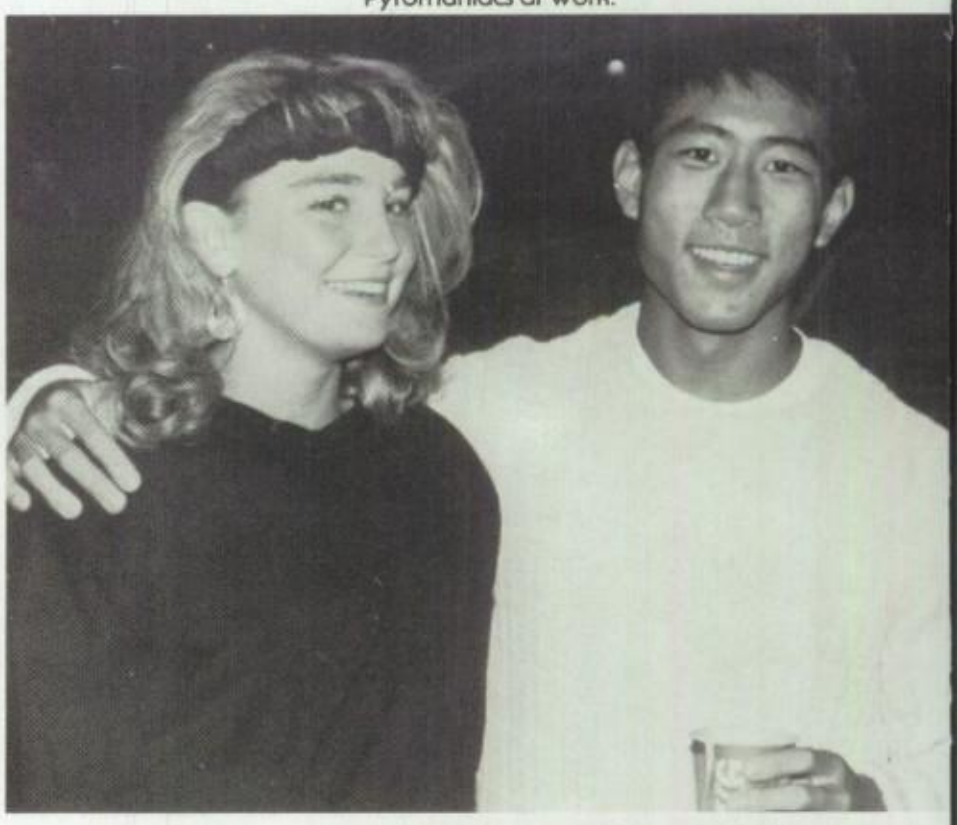
Homecoming 1986

Homecoming 1986 began when the Falcon spirit was ignited by the traditional flaming letters on Thursday night. The next day, the cheerleaders fired up the Falcons during the pep rally. The senior girls joined in with their series of skits, poking fun at the faculty and the senior boys, that thoroughly entertained the student body and visitors. Friday night, Bishop Dunne "went down" 53-13. Country Day's overwhelming victory set the mood for the dance at the Century II Club on Saturday night. The dance featured the Penguins, who felt right at home with the black and white decorations!

Are these real Penguins?

"Mums" the word.

Pyromaniacs at work.



Homecoming veterans, Lisa Tilley and Jason Wong enjoy the game.

The Juniors are all smiles after the Falcon touchdown!

Don't anybody sneeze!

Senior girls rap for their fans.

Jennifer Wilemon and Vance Detwiler are "Happy Campers."

Laura Baldwin and Thai Nguyen are enthusiastic about their first homecoming dance.

Cheers!

The Upper School cheerleaders added innovative cheers, pyramids, and dances to make this year's pep rallies and games the most exciting ever! The squad won several blue ribbons and brought back the spirit stick at both camps they attended. Led by Suzi LeBlanc, the cheerleaders kept up the spirit at football, volleyball, field hockey, cross country, basketball, and soccer games.

"Red Rover, Red Rover, send somebody over."

"Raise your hand if you're sure."

U.S. Football Defends Homecoming Tradition

Head Coach Bernie Busken, a former Elk City, Oklahoma football coach, was welcomed to his first season at Country Day. Summer camp began a week earlier, and the fifty-three Falcons began the season after two weeks of two-a-day practices. With twelve seniors leading the Falcons through the Aledo and Greenhill scrimmages, the Falcons were ready to start. The first two games resulted in losses to Fort Worth Christian and Dallas Christian. Nevertheless, the Falcons bounced back to an SPC division victory over St. John's, 25-7, and over St. Stephen's, 30-10. Disappointing losses to First Baptist and Kinkaid motivated the Falcons to a smashing 53-13 victory over Bishop Dunne in the homecoming game. The Falcons have never lost a homecoming game!

Pete Chambers converts the extra point.

Bump . . . Set . . . SPIKE!

The Varsity Volleyball team finished the season with an excellent 26-2 record. The girls were both SPC and North Zone Champions. Led by captains Molly Chambers and Leah Fulkerson, the team produced six All SPC players including Leah Fulkerson, Molly Chambers, Missi Olson, Allison Street, and Julie Ward. Leah Fulkerson was also named SPC Most Valuable Player. These players, along with the coaching of Butch Traeder, had another exciting year.

The Junior Varsity team was coached by Dianne Houlihan and was composed mostly of sophomores and freshmen. They had a winning season and look forward to improving their skills in years to come.

Field Hockey – An Unforgettable Season!

The Varsity Field Hockey team started out the season with three quick victories, in which they were never scored upon! An exciting win for the team was when they defeated St. Johns 3-0. Senior captains were Paige Farris, Cynthia Rimmer, and Lisa Tilley. The stickwork and teamwork were always improving. Coach Enid Russell stated, "Every member of the team deserves Most Valuable Player."

The JV Field Hockey team had a very successful season under captains Lisa Dickerson and Allison Jeffers. JV's talents will be valuable in the upcoming years.

Field Hockey "86" will never forget: "Holy busride, Batman!" BH and HF's babes watching them play from the party mobile. "Who's the lucky one with the least demerits?" Mother Russell. CT and NO's water fights. "Water!" Why couldn't Twirling Enid drive the Falcon Mobile? Jack Rabbit, AS, and FB. And of course — SPC!

Upper School Cross Country Enjoys a Great Season

With the combination of experience and youth, the Cross Country Team had a successful and exciting season. The team was led by senior captains Richard Potts, David Stevenson, and Scott Wysong. The team participated in meets at Richland Hills High School, L. D. Bell, Vandergriff Park, and Norbuck Park. In addition to the always successful FWCDS Invitational, the team hosted dual meets over the grueling CDS course against St. John's and St. Stephen's. Coaches Suzanne Lewis and John Killion designed new and more difficult practices to better train the team.

Soccer Has High Goals

The Varsity soccer team this year, coached by Art Burke, was led by captains Jim Conlee and David Atkinson. The team, consisting of mainly upperclassmen, won a second place trophy at a tournament held at E.S.D. The Falcons progressed throughout the season showing outstanding team effort.

The Junior Varsity team was coached by Mark Collins. They started out a great season with victories over All Saints and Oakridge. Each team member felt that the Falcons strongest point was their outstanding defense.

Soccer Kicks in a New Season

The Girls Varsity Soccer Team had a successful season under Coach Enid Russell and captains Paige Farris and Kathy Kibbie. The team started out strong by winning the ESD tournament. Coach Russell anticipated a tough team because of nine returning varsity players. The new players definitely had the skill to fill in the gaps of the lost players.

The Girls JV Soccer Team did well under captains Wendy Davis and Caroline Cash. Their skills continued to excel under the coaching of Sheryl Convery. Many of the JV players will be a great addition to next year's varsity team.

Never to be forgotten by soccer '86-'87: the absence of L. T., "Yea buddy!", "Yo baby yo baby yo.", twinsies, wooo!, Cook-Cook-Cookieee, be aware of the mad peanut attacks, and, of course, manager D. F. There is fine line between obnoxious and absurd, "Soccer is my life."

U.S. Basketball Bounces Back

After a disappointing season last year, the Falcons improved their play in 1987. The team had early season wins over Episcopal School of Dallas, Lutheran Academy, and Garland Christian Academy. Seniors John Holt Smith and Pete Chambers and Junior Marc Howard consistently led the team in scoring. The varsity was coached by Mr. Bob Gleeson with assistance from Mr. Will Stansbery, who also coached the junior varsity. Mr. Joe Breedlove worked with the "C" team building their skills for the future.

U.S. Girls Shoot to Win

The Varsity Girls basketball team, led by captains Leah Fulkerson and Misty Brown, and coached by William "Butch" Traeder, were off to a very good start this year. The veteran team had a very impressive game record! Coach Traeder was confident about doing well in both North Zone, in Oklahoma City, and SPC, at CDS.

The JV team, led by captains Margaret McGehee and Wispy Rayzor, consisted mostly of sophomores and freshmen. They were instructed by Assistant Coach Laura Longoria. After a terrific comeback in which they smashed Fort Worth Christian, the team showed promise for future seasons.

"Wrestlemania" takes over Country Day

This year, the wrestling team had one of its best seasons ever. Wrestling competitively throughout the season, the Falcons sent Jeff Greenman, Devon George, Jeff Fraley, Boyd Atherton and Jim McCoy to the National Preparatory Meet in Pennsylvania. Wrestlers Matt Durbin, Kurt Greve and Jim McCoy also went to the state tournament in El Paso. The Falcons had strong victories over L.D. Bell and Plano Vines. Coach Joe Murph and Coach Chris Hauck felt that the team's success was due to the experienced seniors.

Ballet and Conditioning — Kids Stay in Shape

Ballet and conditioning were offered to students as options to varsity sports. Intermediate to advanced ballet was offered to Upper School students as a sports elective. Students took class everyday in technique and pointe. During the year, the dancers had several performances: a Christmas program, a Spring recital with the orchestra and chorus, the Fine Arts Festival and Mayfest. Students in Upper School have been honored to study at several prestigious professional ballet schools.

The Falcon Pride program offered the students a diversified program of body strengthening and sports activities. In a coeducational situation, the students participated in a weight training, running, aerobics, volleyball, softball, basketball and other sports activities.

Upper School Theatre

Hits the Stage

The Upper School Theater group presented two productions this year. The first was "Inherit the Wind" and the second, "Damn Yankees." Al Viola, the director of the play, was a student of Herman Shulman who originally produced and directed "Inherit the Wind" on Broadway. Mr. Viola did a great job of re-creating the work as seen by his mentor.

The sets for these productions were designed by Angela Posey and the Tech Theatre crew. Alan Potts led the Chorus group.

Music Fills the Air!

The Upper School Orchestra had a busy year filled with performances. The programs included Parents' Night, Hyatt Regency Hotel, I.S.A.S. Fine Arts Festival in Houston, and several public concerts at Country Day.

The Upper School Lab Band provides an experience in jazz and rock musical styles for orchestra students. Under the direction of Preston Thomas, assisted by Tom Pieper and Jon Shipley, the Lab Band performed at a variety of occasions, such as the Auction Party, home football games and pep rallies, and the talent show.

Upper School Art saw increased enrollment in areas of ceramics, painting and drawing. The students in the beginning course of General Art kept sketch books as personal art journals. Painting students worked in acrylic, oil and watercolor. They were packed in the studio easel to easel. The art department hosted artists in residence in ceramics and studio arts.

Student Body Leaders

The members of the student government are the Student Body President, the four class presidents and the committee members elected from each class. This structure provides its members with more responsibility and opportunities for involvement in all areas of school life. Students from each class are recruited to help with various projects sponsored by the student government such as, school dances, theme days and bake sales. This year they have started a tradition of leaving a gift to the school at graduation, which this year is the new furniture for the commons.

The discipline committee is composed of the department heads, one representative elected from each class and the faculty advisor for the appropriate call. Ms. Robinson is the chairman. This committee hears all academic and behavior problems, makes a decision and determines the punishment when necessary.

Reach Out And Touch Someone

Outreach is not just another alternative for athletics. It is a chance for students to grow, learn and become involved in their community. Outreach volunteers work six hours a week at hospitals, public schools and nursing homes. Area associations such as Parents Anonymous, the blind, and the YMCA also provide opportunities for service. All Upper School students are invited to help in holiday festivities including Halloween parties and Thanksgiving and Christmas celebrations. Many Upper School students volunteer to help with ambulatory soccer, swimming and basketball for the handicapped.

Flight '87 — The Best Yet

Flight 1987 was directed by Advisor Peggy Wadley and Editor-in-Chief Paige Farris. A more disciplined approach helped the twenty-three staff members and ten photographers to make this Flight one of the best. The staff struggled through a couple of tough deadlines and donated some of their afternoons so the book would be ready on time. The ads staff directed by Advisor Cecilee Lindsey, Manager Ellen Walsh and Business Manager Laura Bonnell launched a successful money-raising campaign contacting friends and C.D.S. families for donations and advertisements. Once again Alan Bradshaw headed the photographers and managed the darkroom. The staff is very proud of Flight '87, the product of their hard work and dedication.

Falcon Quill Soars

The award winning Falcon Quill staff was led by Advisor Diane Orr and Editors Sandy Mack and Jason Wong. The staff once again survived ominous deadlines to bring the C.D.S. community five outstanding issues. The fifteen journalists dedicated their time and writing talents to keep the students, faculty and parents informed on school news and current events through thought provoking editorials, special interest columns and personal interviews.

Focus On Student Life

The Middle School photography class was very busy this year experimenting with various picture-taking techniques. Under the supervision of Dr. Jim Aldridge, the class was held every Tuesday and Thursday. They met either in the darkroom, where they worked with both color and black-and-white developing, or in Dr. Aldridge's room, where they learned to present their material effectively through the use of layout graphics. The class took most of their pictures on campus, photographing everything from people to park benches.

The Student Council supported many activities for the students of the Middle School. The Council, along with Faculty Advisor Emily Younger and President Dustin Eudaly, coordinated the can drive and set up several non-uniform days and dances. The money earned from these activities was used to donate a gift to the school.

M.S. Football Tackles a Winning Season

The eighth grade football team coached by Steve Chevereaux and Joe Breedlove began their season impressively. This was the last team to compete with other schools in sixth grade since the establishment of flag football last year. They demonstrated their experience with victories over Greenhill, 6-0 and All Saints 6-0. The eighth grade also fought Fort Worth Christian for a tie, 12-12. The seventh grade football team coached by Joe Murph and Mark Collins highlighted their season with a mid-season victory over St. Mark's. Thirty-four sixth grade boys enrolled for the second season of flag football, a non competitive introduction to tackle football coached by Johnny Miller.

Middle School Field Hockey

The small schedule for Middle School field hockey did not deter the girls' enthusiasm for the sport. The 55 girls participating were divided into three teams with the competitive team hosting 15 players. The first Mother-Daughter Clinic and Scrimmage was held to familiarize parents with game rules, skills, and strategy.

Middle School Volleyball

The Middle School volleyball teams had a very exciting season! The "A" team, coached by Mrs. Rea passed, set and spiked their way to a winning season. The "B" team, coached by Mrs. Houlihan, worked diligently and improved greatly. The 6th grade girls, coached by Mr. Traeder, worked hard on the basic skills and will be an asset next year.

Middle School Cross Country

The boys and girls Middle School cross country team finished very well in all seven of their meets. The girls placed second overall in the CDS Invitational. The boys finished strongly at fourth place. They were very impressive finishes considering the team had been running for less than three weeks.

The 25 member team was led by captain John Lovette. There are many good runners coming back next year, making the team look good for the future. Coach Jones states, "I think we have the talent to start a tradition in Middle School cross country here at CDS, and I hope that I am the one to get it started."

The Middle School Wrestling Team was coached by Chris Hauck. Dru George, Gale Hardage, Darren Eudaly, and Rob Horton lead the team in their best season yet! The range in size of the wrestlers was from 66 to 195 pounds. The team wrestled in both novice and regular tournaments. The novice tournaments were for those who were wrestling for their first year. The regular tournaments were for the team members who had been wrestling for two years. The team placed first, second, or third in all of their tournaments!

On the Ball

The 1986-1987 boys soccer team built upon the strengths of last season. A nucleus of able and skillful eighth graders provided leadership on and off the field. Both "A" and "B" teams had successful seasons overall. The "C" team worked hard on skills preparing to become the future strength of Middle School soccer.

Girls' Soccer Scores

Thirty-four girls played either "A" or "B" team soccer and twenty-six played "C" team soccer. The "A" team, coached by Jackie Rea, was composed of all eighth graders, while the "B" team, coached by Jackie Ziegler had a combination of sixth, seventh, and eighth graders. Captains Megan Davis and Sarah Akhtar helped provide the leadership necessary for a successful season. The positions on the "A" team were handled effectively as the girls were skilled and worked well together. The "B" team had a winning season also!

M.S. Boys Basketball Looks to the Future

Middle School Boys Basketball had a rough season this year. The A team coach, Joe Breedlove, said the lack of game experience hurt the team. The A team had many young players who improved throughout the year. The B team, coached by Johnny Miller, also gained valuable experience needed to make an all-round team in '87-'88. The C team was composed mostly of sixth graders and was coached by Bill Baker. These players will also contribute their skills to teams in years to come.

The players anxiously await to run their own wind sprints.

M.S. Girls Basketball Team of Tomorrow

Middle School girls basketball team had a very successful season, winning more games than they lost. The Middle School "A" team was a young team having one eighth grader and four seventh graders on the team. The Middle School "B" team, having three sixth graders and the rest seventh graders, worked diligently throughout the season. Coach Traeder was pleased with the potential of these teams for future years.

M.S. Sports Swing into Spring

As springtime approached this year, several Middle School athletes were eagerly waiting for the spring sports program to begin. Many started practicing for their favorite sport — tennis, baseball, softball or track, before they left for their spring breaks. Due to the enthusiasm of the students, the coaches of each sport looked forward to super seasons.

Talent on Tiptoe

The Middle School Ballet program consisted of girls at the intermediate/advanced level who were selected by audition. The spring was highlighted by their performance at an Evening of Dance and Song. In addition, some of the girls traveled to Houston for the Fine Arts Festival, and some danced at Mayfest.

Over the summer, several girls as well as Ms. Gayle Corkery, attend ballet schools and workshops all over the country to study more difficult techniques and to stay in shape for the fall.

On With the Show!

This year, the Middle School Theater class was busy working on Cinderella, which was directed by Mr. Viola and Mr. Potts. The chorus group sang at the CDS Christmas concert and performed at a contest at Six Flags.

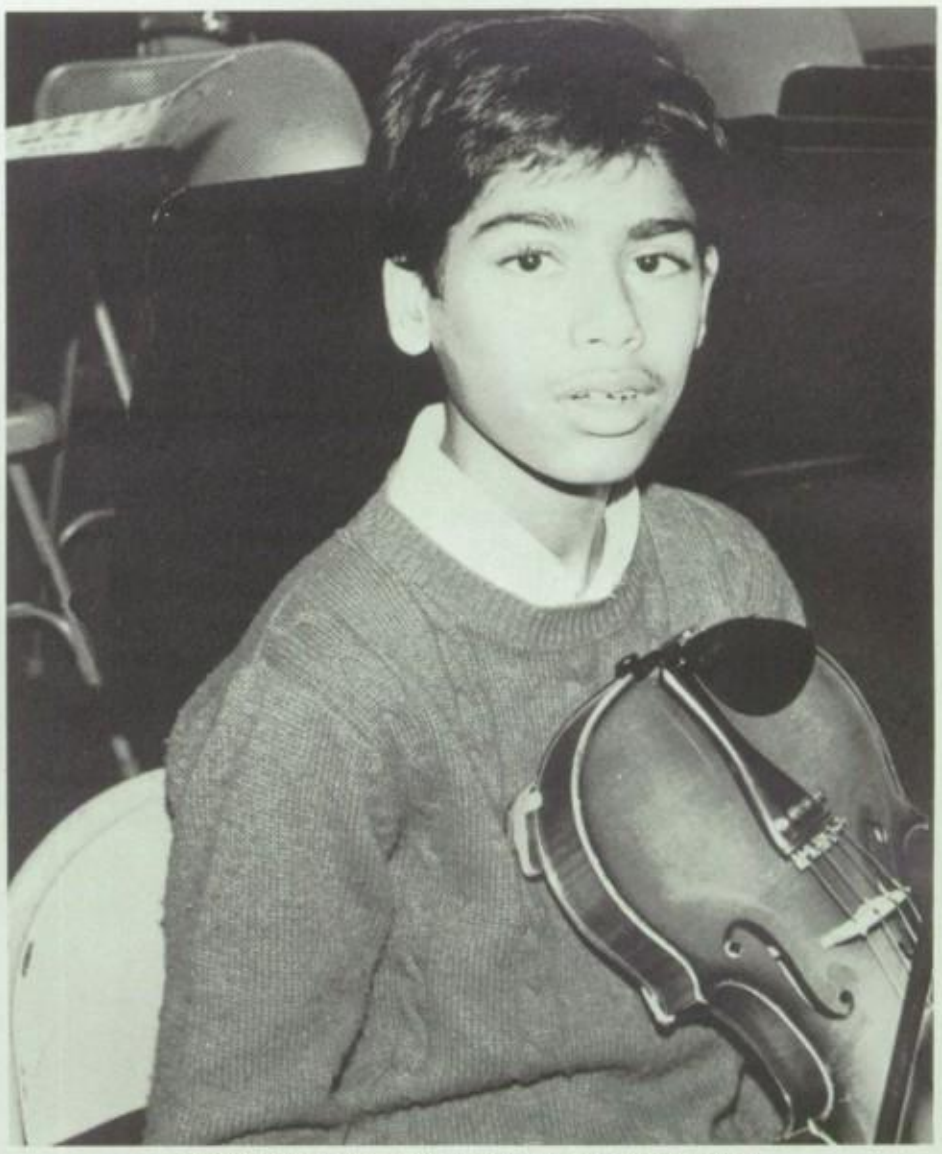
The Middle School Orchestra class participated in a variety of activities, performing at the Tandy Center and at Six Flags. Some of the students also played in the Ryan Place Christmas Tour. All in all, they had a very exciting year.

Chris Gallagher is speechless when he hears Alex Geesbreght play the trumpet.

Michelle Wallace is so disgusted by what she sees that she can't look.

"Go away, I'm not having a good day." says Chris Peterson.

Nothing can distract Robert Freese during Orchestra.



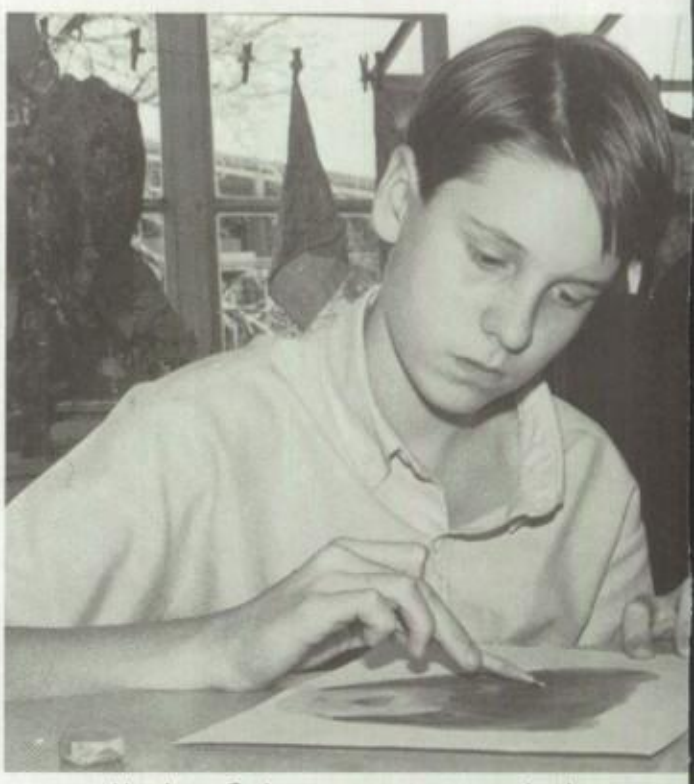
"Orchestra is so much fun!" exclaims Pinku Doshi.

"Can we please take a break now?" begs Julie Acuff.

Dustyn Eudaly and E. B. Lutz clown around during Theatre.

Creativity Abounds in M.S. Art

The M.S. art classes offer a systematic study for developing an interest in various art forms, beginning with guided art projects and progressing to experimental projects allowing for more creativity. Sixth graders began last fall with practice in drawing faces, then a study of Picasso and other cubist artists and a chance to make their own cubistic collage and painting from a self-portrait. A clay figure, weaving, and landscape painting were some of their other projects this year. Art in the seventh grade continued the study of the formal elements and principles of design. Techniques including painting, drawing, clay, book making, and weaving were taught as a means of creative self-expression and communication. Meanwhile, Eighth graders studied the drawing process "using the right side of the brain." Exercises included drawing for extended periods of time while listening to classical music. Landscape painting and a clay project helped round out the year.



Matthew Cotham concentrates on shading.

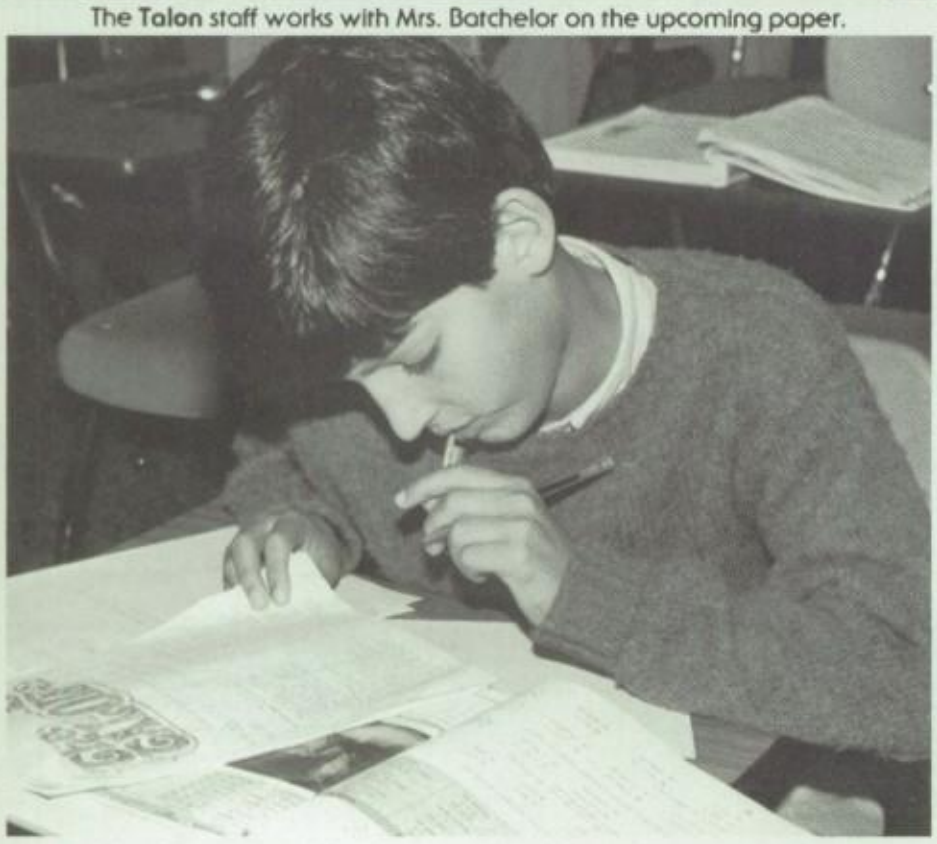
Bits and Bytes — THE TALON Goes Computer

Dustyn Eudaly cranks out the new paper.

The Talon staff works with Mrs. Batchelor on the upcoming paper.

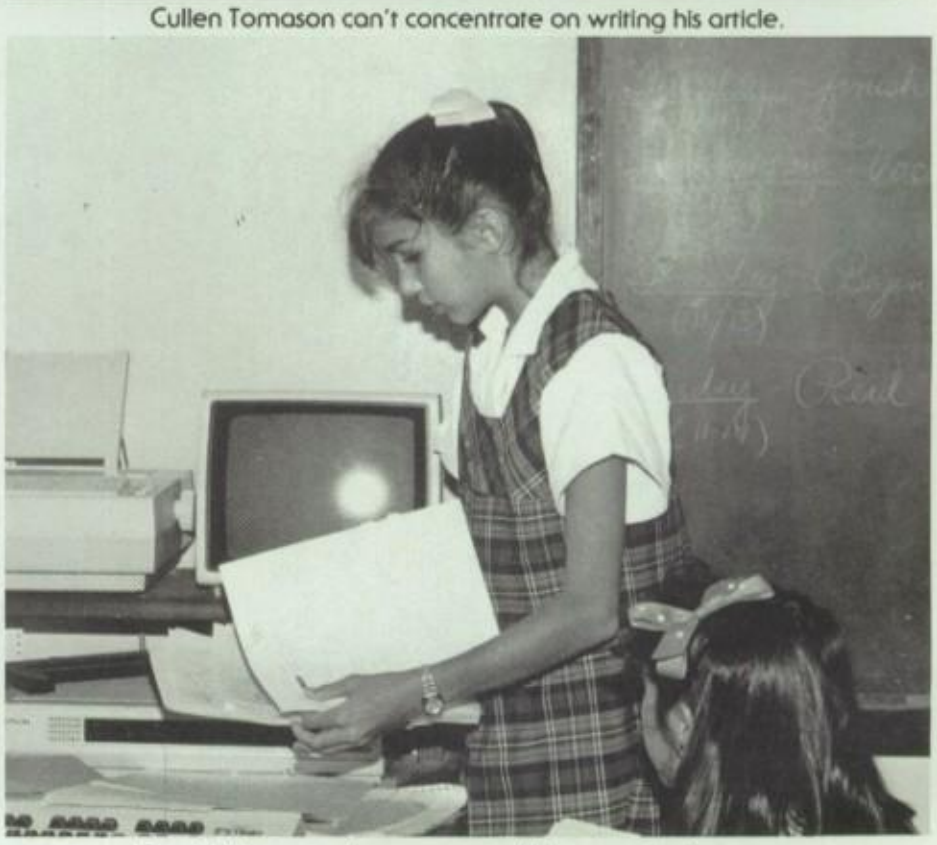


Michael Gilbert is more interested in reading The Talon than doing his math.

The Talon is the Middle School newspaper. The journalism class consisted of 21 students from the seventh and eighth grades. The students were chosen to be in the journalism program. The journalism staff meets twice a week to work on the Talon. This year the journalism sponsor was Mrs. Batchelor. Every six to twelve weeks, the students were given a new position so they could experience different jobs.

In previous years, the Middle Schoolers typed and mimeographed the Talon themselves. However, this year the staff learned computer and word-processing skills and had the newspaper printed professionally. The journalism staff worked hard to make the Talon enjoyable for all Middle Schoolers.

Cullen Tomason can't concentrate on writing his article.



Sarah Akhtar puts her computer skills to use for the paper.

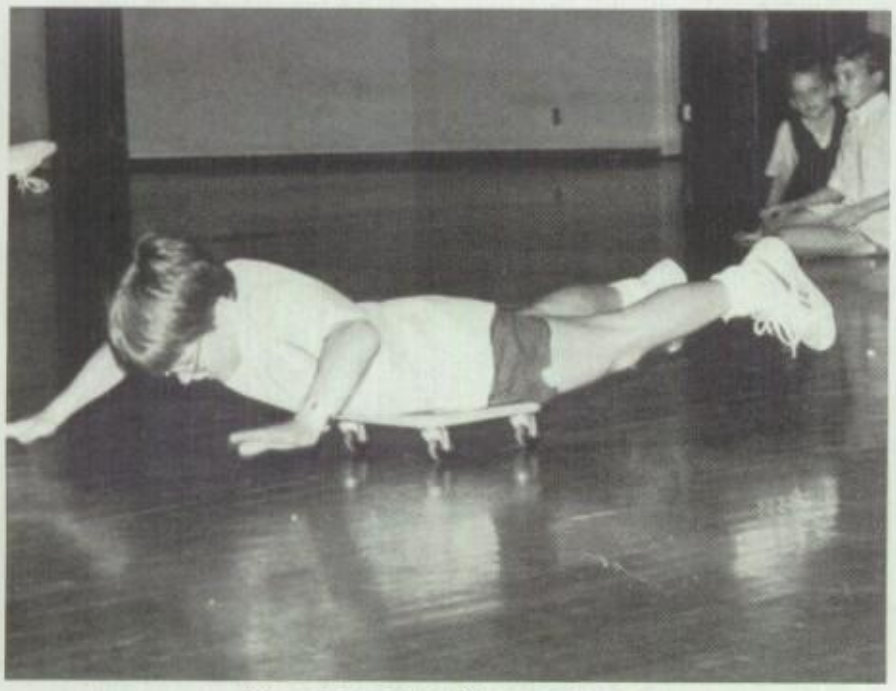
Wee Work Out!

In addition to developing their basic athletic skills, Lower Schoolers learned the basics of volleyball, soccer, wrestling, and track. As always, dodgeball and rope climbing were favorite activities! By learning to play together, Lower Schoolers learned the importance of each player as part of a team.



The ever-popular Superman race

Lower School girls love to climb ropes.

"Coach, I left my shirt at home."

Angel Endebrock shows off her gymnastic skills.

Bitty Ballet

As an option to the regular sports program, 4th and 5th grade girls have the opportunity to learn classical ballet. At the beginning of the year, an audition was held, and ten students from each grade were selected. These students performed at the Christmas program, a spring recital, and at Mayfest.

Prima Ballerinas of the future?

Mrs. Corkery enjoys directing her students.

Lower School girls show off their tendue skills.

Lower Schoolers limber up.

Designs for Growing

Lower School Art prepares the students in the basic concepts of drawing, painting and pottery. First, second and third grades learned color, line and texture. They also did an "I wish" picture which is a creative drawing expressing the student's ideas and fantasies. The fourth and fifth grades worked on more advanced techniques and projects, such as paper maché objects called "screamers." The fifth grade studied both African and Oriental art. They made African ritual masks and hand made paper.

Amish Doshi gets one last look at his masterpiece before he turns it in.

"Don't take a picture of us," says Robby Rayel.

A Sign of the Times

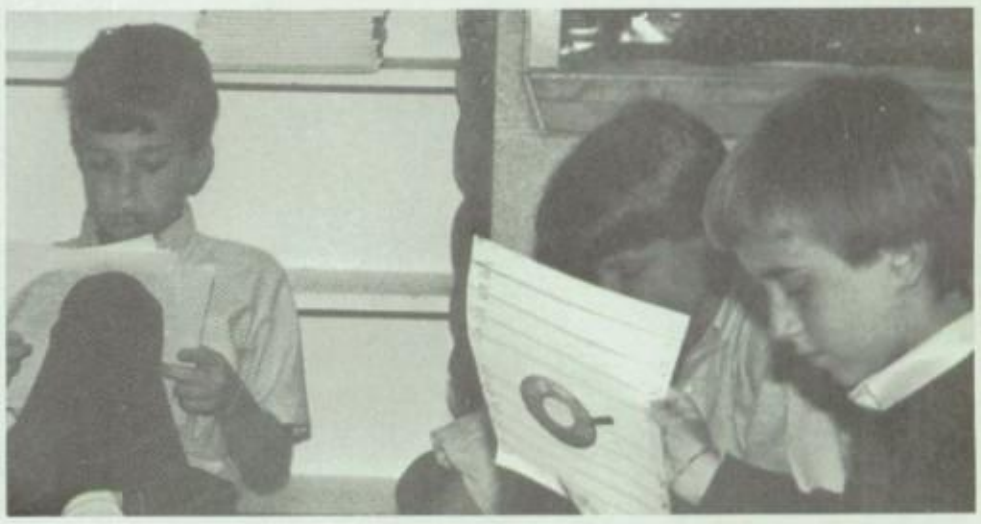
Since 1985, the Lower School Times has been produced by the fifth grade, with contributions from grades kindergarten through fifth. Since all fifth grade students have class in Mrs. Williams' room for one third of the year, the students work on the newspaper during that twelve weeks. Each student reports on a particular classroom, doing interviews, photography and news stories, as well as cartooning. Two Upper School apprentices, Baron Lobstein and West Decker, work with the production of the newspaper, also. The name was suggested last year by Bill Wysong and Rebecca Wood.

Matthew Lott tries to impress Heather Breshers with his computer skills.

Mrs. Williams critiques Dax Petty's article.

Darren Boswell and Jon Kelly pretend to work on their article.

Rebecca Stovall and Elizabeth Nayfa take a break to pose for the camera.



Rob Call, Alex Johnson and Emrys Adams check over their articles.

Lower School Is Alive With the Sound of Music

This year, Marsha Carter led the Lower School in the learning of the basics of music. Mrs. Carter stressed learning to read music and play instruments. The Lower Schoolers played such instruments as recorders and xylophones.

After school, Mrs. Vivian Potts offered beginning courses in learning instruments. Primarily, the students learned the violin.

The Lower Schoolers performed in two programs during the year. One was a Christmas performance. The other was the annual May program in which the 5th graders wrap the Maypole.

Ring around the rosey!

Lower Schoolers practice for their spring program.

Lower Schoolers keep the beat with Mrs. Carter.

Mrs. Carter teaches Lower Schoolers the best way to sing solos.

Lower Schoolers Get Rave Reviews

"Yee-haw!" say the kindergarteners.

Yo ho ho and a bottle of Coke.

Would you buy a car from this man?

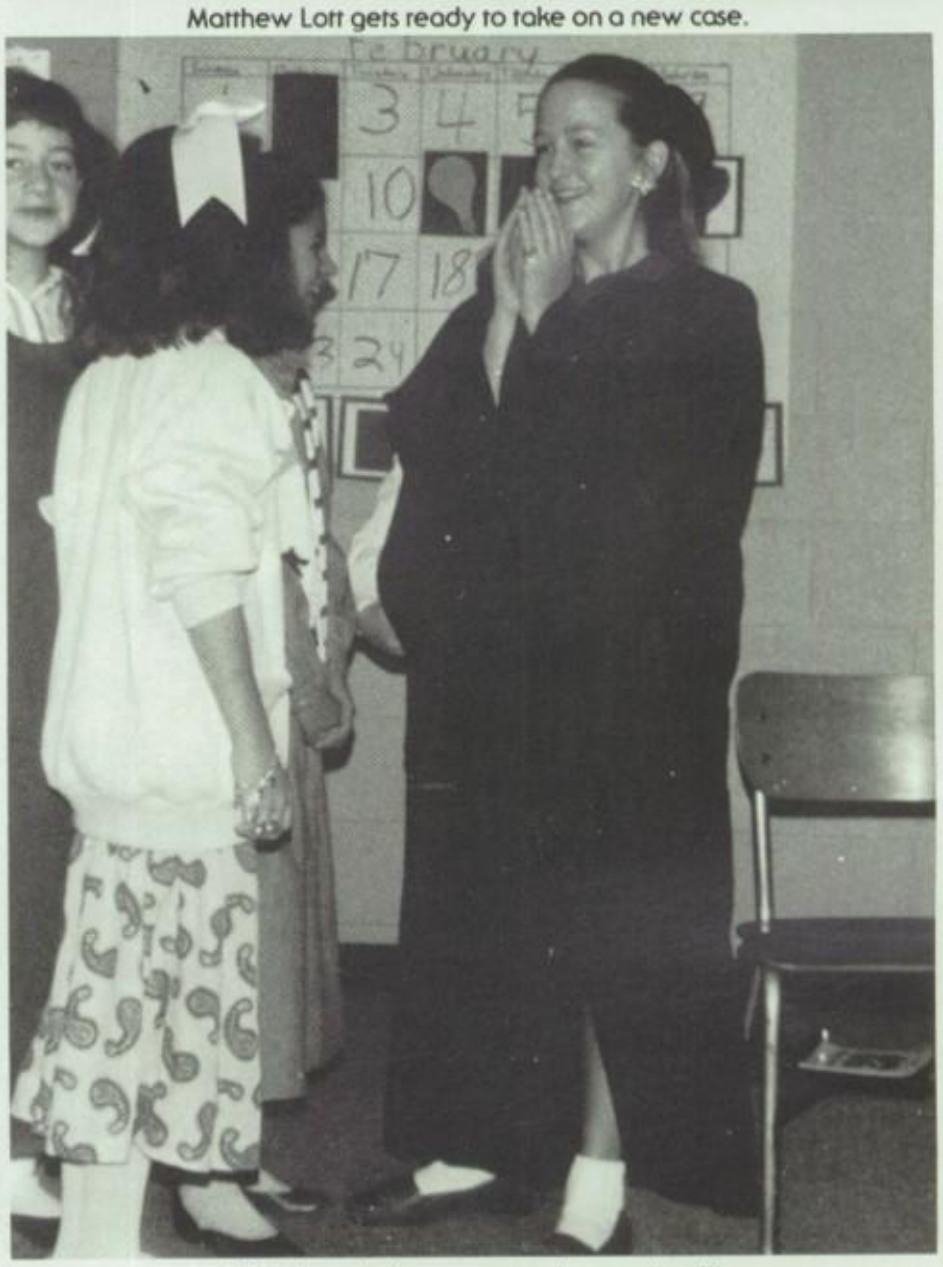
Matthew Lott gets ready to take on a new case.



"Oh please help me remember my lines!"
